

(b) Expand the given outline and write a paragraph in about 150 words with a suitable title.

Vikranth-intelligent-challenged with his friend-one can copy in exams being smart-- his friend replies that he is intelligent and can say any dialogue--Vikranth took it seriously--decided to copy-- took five out of six exams-- met his friend and showed heroism--caught red-handed on the last day--failed--learnt lesson -- at the cost of his career.

3. (a) What have you learnt from the poem 'If' by Rudyard Kipling?
(b) Write a paragraph in 150 words on "Impact of social media on youth."
4. (a) What is the essence of the speech "I Have a Dream" by Martin Luther King?
(b) Write a letter to the Manager of the LG Company enquiring about the various models of washing machines, the offers, cost and mode of delivery, etc.
5. (a) What message did you get from the poem "The Road Not Taken" by Robert Frost?
(b) Draft a report to your class in-charge about your experience of internship programme during summer at IIT, Kanpur.
6. (a) Involving in sports is a good exercise. Discuss the views of the writer in "The Sporting Spirit."
(b) As an engineering graduate write SOP to Columbia University, New York, United States to get admission to do MS in science.
7. (a) Read the following passage and answer the following questions:

Ladies and gentlemen, today I stand before you to share a simple truth - the power to shape your destiny lies within you. Each one of you possesses a unique set of talents and abilities that can make a difference in this world. Life is a journey, and every step you take contributes to the story of your success.

In the grand tapestry of life, challenges are like threads that weave through the fabric of your existence. Embrace them, for they are the very essence of growth. Remember, it's not about the destination, but the journey itself. Learn from every experience, and let it mould you into a stronger, wiser individual.

Believe in yourself when others doubt, and trust your instincts when the path ahead seems unclear. The world may present obstacles, but you have the resilience to overcome them. Your dreams are the compass guiding you towards your true north. Hold onto them with unwavering determination.

Surround yourself with positivity and kindred spirits who uplift and inspire. As you climb the ladder of success, extend a helping hand to those around you. Success is not a solo journey; it's a collective effort that leaves a lasting impact.

In this vast universe, you are a star capable of shining brightly. Seize every opportunity, for each moment is a chance to make a difference. As you embark on your journey, remember that the power to create the life you desire resides within you.